Senate M-E report 'ill-considered': CIC

By Janice Arnold

(JTA) — After three years of study, a Senate committee on Middle East policy has produced a report highly sympathetic to the Palestinian cause and soft on the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Fears that the report would call for Canada's recognition of the PLO, fueled by leaks to the press a couple of weeks before it was presented, proved unfounded. However, the two Jewish legislators on the Senate committee, Jerry Grafstein, a Liberal, and Nathan Nurgitz, a Progressive Conservative, have disassociated themselves from the report and the Canada-Israel Committee (CIC) has called it "misleading and ill-considered."

Nurgitz told the Senate the day the report was presented that the report was "offensive" to the Jewish community of Canada in its treatment of the Arab-Israeli conflict. What is "especially shocking," according to the CIC, is the report's portrayal of the PLO as "some sort of frustrated, but essentially democratic organization."

The report describes the PLO as a "relatively democratic" umbrella organization, moving toward moderation, that is regarded by the "vast majority" of Palestinians...as their principal representative."

While the Senate committee was "not persuaded on balance that Canada should proceed to recognize the PLO as the sole representative of the Palestinian people," it recommends that the Canadian government continue its contracts with the PLO and, under some circumstances, show more flexibility.

Highly Critical of Israel's Policy

The report is very critical of Israel's occupation of the West Bank and the Gaza Strip, particularly its settlement program which is seen as a major obstacle to peace. It calls for withdrawal of Jewish settlements in which Israel would undertake responsibility for the removal of the settlers from the settlements." In the meantime, the report urges an end, not just a freeze, to settlement activity.

The report emphasizes that the "Palestinian problem is central" to the Arab-Israeli conflict. "There can be no resolution of the Arab-Israeli dispute until there has been agreement on how to accommodate the Palestinian people while at the same time ensuring the security and legitimacy of Israel."

The report says the Canadian public's perception of the PLO has been dominated by its military and terrorist activities, overlooking its contributions to the social welfare and "self-respect" of the Palestinians.

The study is the first examination of Canada's relations with the Middle East by a parliamentary committee. The House of Commons gave the Senate the mandate to begin the study only days after Israel entered Lebanon in June, 1982.

The committee heard from 63 witnesses at hearings in Ottawa. Among the most controversial personalities to testify before the committee was Zehdi Terzi, PLO observer at the United Nations. During a Middle East tour in 1983, committee members met then Israeli Premier Yitzhak Shamir, Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak, King Fahd of Saudi Arabia and King Hussein of Jordan. Others testifying included Edgar Bronfman, president of World Jewish Congress, and Bethlehem Mayor Elias Freij. Further recommendations made in the report are that Canada send foreign aid to Palestinians on the West Bank and the Gaza Strip, a flexible attitude toward Palestinians wishing to emigrate to Canada, opposition to Israel's "unilateral annexation" of East Jerusalem, and no anti-boycott legislation.

The report outlines a peace plan comprising first-stage negotiations between Israel and Egypt, Jordan and "moderate non-PLO Palestinians." An international conference involving the United States, Soviet Union and three other permanent members of the UN Security Council is proposed for the second stage of talks.

The Senate is the upper house of the Canadian parliament through which all legislation must pass before it becomes law. Its responsibilities, however, are largely regarded as ceremonial.

Dr. Earl Cooperman heads Bond Drive

Dr. Earl Cooperman will continue to lead the 1985 campaign for State of Israel Bonds as its General Campaign Chairman.

A well-known and respected paediatrician, Dr. Cooperman is an active member of Agudath Israel Congregation. Born in Toronto, Dr. Cooperman has lived in Ottawa for many years. He is married to the former Goldalyn Maser of Ottawa. The Cooperman's have three children — Jonathan, Liza and Jessica.

Dr. Earl Cooperman

Last year Dr. Cooperman directed the Israel Bond Campaign at Agudath Israel Congregation and achieved record sales for the synagogue.

As Campaign Chairman, Dr. Cooperman commented on the critical situation in the Middle East and Israel's urgent need for cash. "The people of Israel," he said, "have assumed heavy new tax burdens in the wake of the events in Lebanon."

"The struggle to achieve security for its people has been the primary focus of Israel's leaders for over three decades. At the same time, the work of economic development has gone on, achieving remarkable results."

With a large part of Israel's resources now being devoted to defence expenditures, "The Emergency Direct Loan Programme to Israel" will culminate with the High Holy Day Appeals in North American synagogues.

Workers paid tribute at Kovod evening

The 1985 United Jewish Appeal Campaign was formally closed at a gathering held on Wednesday evening, July 3 at the home of the Israeli Ambassador and Mrs. Eliashiv Ben-Horin.

Dr. Stanley Labow, General Chairman of the 1985 Campaign used the occasion to pay tribute to the volunteers who worked so diligently to make the Campaign a great success. The final figure, he noted, should reach $3,000,000., making this the largest sum ever raised by the United Jewish Appeal in a peacetime campaign in Ottawa.

In his closing remarks, the Chairman briefly reviewed the highlights of the Campaign and added his concern for the Community to remain united in its fund-raising efforts.

Tribute was paid to the late Hy Hochberg, who was the driving force behind U.J.A. campaigns for so many years. Dr. Labow reiterated that the success of the 1985 Campaign was an indication of the high esteem in which Hy had been held, and said the community had made certain to continue the successful track record established by the late Executive Vice President. He extended thanks to the staff of the U.J.A. for their exceptional efforts throughout the Campaign.

Awards were presented to the Associate Chairman of the Campaign by Dr. Labow and Larry Hartman, Deputy Chairman of the 1985 Campaign. Certificates of Merit were awarded to a number of key workers who have given continuous service to various aspects of the U.J.A. Campaign over a number of years. They were reminded that they are not taken for granted, but rather appreciated for their efforts.

Stephen Victor, first Vice-President of the Jewish Community Council of Ottawa made a presentation on behalf of the Community to Dr. Labow. At the same time, he announced the appointment of Larry Hartman as the General Chairman for the 1986 United Jewish Appeal Campaign.

The gracious hospitality of His Excellency and Mrs. Ben-Horin made everyone feel at home. The setting added to the warmth and close feeling that everyone felt that evening.

Maccabiah Participants Feted Before Take-Off

by Gerald Berger

President, Ottawa Vaad Ha'Ir Jewish Community Council

The Keegstra Trial: A Necessary Action

On Saturday, July 20, the jury in Red Deer handed down its verdict in the case of Jim Keegstra. It found him guilty of willfully promoting hatred against Jews and the judge fined him $5000.

The Keegstra case, and the Zundel case which preceded it, have generated much debate inside the Jewish community as well as in the larger Canadian society. There are those who believe that proceeding with those two cases was a mistake. Allan Borovoy of the Canadian Civil Liberties Association expressed these concerns when he was quoted as questioning "whether the lengthy trial was worth the costs in terms of...the platform it provided for Keegstra's views".

Others, while favouring prosecution, expressed concern with the extent to which the media focussed on these cases and the manner in which it did so. It was as if the coverage itself was the issue and not the testimony that was being given. I must confess that from time to time I felt that the media seemed obsessed with these two trials and occasionally I noticed a strange juxtaposition of other articles that dealt with Jewish issues or with persons who are Jewish. On the other hand, we have spent considerable time and effort over the years to convince the media that anti-semitism and the Holocaust are important issues.

In my opinion, Canada and her Jewish citizens have benefitted from these two trials. Perpetrators of hate and lies have been exposed and dealt with under the law — a law which was enacted with the strong support of Canadian Jewry. The boundaries between freedom of speech and legal prohibition have been better defined. Hate mongers can and must be dealt with under the law which was enacted to deal with just this kind of situation.

It is true that the trial was long and Keegstra had 23 days on the witness stand with the whole country following his testimony. That is the price we pay for living in a democracy. But how could we justify to ourselves, let alone our children, if nothing had been done.

It is worth noting that fifty years ago the late A.J. Freiman, instituted an action against Jean Tissot, an Ottawa police detective, for defamatory libel. In short, Tissot was attempting to organize Christian businessmen to drive the Jews out of Ottawa. Mr. Freiman was a particular target. Within the year, Tissot had been found guilty, and also lost his bid to become a federal M.P.

One of the basic tenets of Zionism is the protection of Jewish rights everywhere — and that includes right here in Canada. We have worked long and hard to live in a free society with laws that are there to protect us. However, we must remember that this is not just a "Jewish Issue". This decision will affect positively the welfare of all minorities who have struggled to establish themselves in Canada.

Executive Director Appointment

I am pleased to announce that the Executive Committee, at a meeting held on June 19, approved the recommendation of the Search Committee and appointed Gittel Tatz as Executive Director of the Jewish Community Council.

Mrs. Tatz will assume the position as of August 1. I know I speak on behalf of everyone in welcoming her back to Ottawa and wishing her every success as our new Executive Director. Full details of the appointment will be featured in the next edition of the Bulletin.

I would like to thank the Chairman of the Selection Committee, Dr. Harvey Lithwick and the other members Lorry Greenberg, Dorothy Nadolny, Sol Shinder, Stephen Victor and Norman Zagerman for their time and diligence in this most important task.

Executive Committee

The Officers have met and have firmed up the appointments to the Executive Committee. The names of those who will serve on the Committee for 1985-86 are as follows: Stephen Victor, Q.C., First Vice-President; Dr. Eli Rabin, Second Vice-President; Simone Goldberg, Treasurer; Lorry Greenberg, Honorary Secretary; Dr. Harvey Lithwick, Immediate Past President; Larry Hartman, General Chairman of U.J.A.; Sheila Hartman and Myra Presser, Co-Chairmen of U.J.A. Women's Division; Dr. Bernard Dolansky, Chairman, Planning, Priorities & Budget Committee; Linda Cogan and Cally Kardash, Co-Chairmen Women's Federation; Rabbi Dr. Basil F. Herring, Rabbinical Representative; and the three Executive Committee Members-at-Large — Dr. Nordau Kanigsberg, Dr. Stanley Lahow and Zelaine Shinder.

Two named to spearhead '85 JNF campaign and Oct. Negev Dinner

Harry Goldstein, Jewish National Fund Chairman, is pleased to announce the appointments of Henry Molot as Campaign Chairman and Chick Taylor as Dinner Chairman for the 1985 Negev Dinner. Both are well known and respected members of the Ottawa Jewish Community.

Chick Taylor

Henry Molot

Henry Molot has devoted much of his energy to the Ottawa Talmud Torah Board, Adult Education and Congregation Machzikei Hadas.

Chick Taylor's many involvements include those of past chairman of UJA, past treasurer of the Jewish Community Council, and past vice president of Congregation Beth Shalom. Currently, he is president of the Ottawa Jewish Community Foundation.

The 1985 Negev Dinner, which will honour Muriel Levine, is scheduled for Wednesday, October 16 at the Jewish Community Centre.

Many organizations in Ottawa have had the benefit of Muriel Levine's devotion, guidance and commitment. She has served on the JNF board since its inception in Ottawa, at one point assuming the chairmanship. As well, she has repeatedly served as Negev Dinner arrangements chairman. Presently, Mrs. Levine is Honourary President for ORT National, and served as ORT Regional President and Chapter President for a number of years. She is also a board member of State of Israel Bonds in Ottawa, and has served as chairman of its Women's Division. She is a past president of the Beth Shalom Sisterhood and for many years worked closely with the late Hy Hochberg and Anne Altman in arranging UJA dinners.

Muriel Levine was chosen as the honouree for the 1985 Negev Dinner in recognition of her untiring devotion to the Jewish Community. By participating in the Negev Dinner, the Ottawa Jewish Community can honour Muriel Levine, and at the same time further the work of the Jewish National Fund. The proceeds from the dinner will be directed toward the Galil Canada project which, when complete, will provide the infrastructure for 14 new settlements as well as farm and industrial land within close proximity.

For further information, contact the JNF office at 230-9047.

Raffle and culture evening is planned to aid Ethiopian Jews

As part of its continuing program to raise funds for relief in Ethiopia, the Ottawa Chapter For Ethiopian Jewry is conducting a raffle and an Ethiopian arts and culture evening.

The raffle tickets are three for $5.00 or single tickets for $2.00. Prizes are an original work of art By G.B. Hillman valued at $975.00, donated by the Hollander York Gallery of Toronto; a weekend for two donated by the Westin Hotel, Ottawa; a 5 gram gold wafer; and a $100.00 bond, donated by the Ottawa Citizen.

The drawing will be held on August 19, 1985 a day to be proclaimed by the Mayor as Solidarity with the people of Ethiopia. First prize will be drawn by Her Worship Marion Dewar, the remaining prizes by Max Keeping of CJOH fame. The drawing will take place at 19:00 hours in the foyer of City Hall, 111 Sussex Dr., which will be decorated with the art and culture of the Beta Israel. As well as affording an opportunity to win one of the four main prizes — odds are one in 1500 — tickets are eligible toward two door prizes to be drawn for at City Hall. Light refreshments will also be available.

Tickets can be purchased by calling Paula Agulnik - 828-8047; Harry Prizant - 235-2972; or the Jewish Community Centre (reception) - 232-7306.

The Audi Card is standard equipment on all new Audis.

The Age of Wonders

by Aharon Appelfield

International Fiction Backlist Lester and Orpen Dennys, $16.95 (Cloth)

"For I the Lord thy G-d am a jealous G-d, visiting the iniquity of the father upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me" (Exodus 20:4) is the theme of this penetrating novel which explores the rights of the creative artist at the same time as it questions the rights of assimilated Jews.

In pre-war Austria the Jewish intellectuals deplored the Osterjuden. Travelling in trains to Vienna or to their summer homes they would catch glimpses of the bourgeoisie: "They are the Jews, they would say with disdain, the same mocking tone as any anti-semite.

The novel's protagonist-narrator is a young Jewish boy about to celebrate his thirteenth birthday in the town of Stahlheim. His father is a brilliant writer in his forties whose best writing is behind him, so he believes and fate soon confirms.

Although he has been praised by several critics, his work has been torn to shreds by one fellow Jew. But the boy's father has little time for his Jewishness, which he fears may rob him of his dispassionate eye without which great art is impossible. He claimed, "Only the French knew the right frame of mind, the quiet, unemotional detachment without which all writing is moralistic, fantastical or rootless."

The dissenter's criticism eats away at his heart and soul. His writing is a devil which consumes him. He allows it to poison his feelings for his family as he escapes to Vienna where he takes up with a Baroness who has literary salons in her home. As an assimilated Jew, the boy's father feels the world is closing in on his fellow Jews, but not him. He is exempt because he is a writer with sacrosanct responsibility to keep important journals alive during the troubled times.

He refuses to return for his son's thirteenth birthday. Because he and his wife have always been free thinkers, without religious roots, they did not bother to have their son circumcised. The boy recalls his mother's return from visiting the rabbi in order to request a Bar Mitzvah for her son, "From then until the day she died, I did not see a soft line in her face."

The father does not return before the Jews of Stahlheim are evacuated. They are called to the temple, those who affiliated and those who did not to meet their fate together. One assimilated Jew calls the rabbi an informer, "If not for your nagging demands for money and activity, no one would have known who was a Jew."

As Stahlheim's Jews leave in cattle cars, Book One of the The Age of Wonders terminates. In Book Two, many years after the war, the child-narrator returns as grown man, now a citizen of Jerusalem. Both his mother and father have died in camps. Sharing with his father the fate of an unhappy marriage, Bruno is divorced from his wife. Barely anyone he once knew remains, save for the mistress of his Uncle Salo and one of the same Uncle's illegitimate children. Bruno feels no closeness for the town or the people he meets. One old Jew, Brum, has particular contempt for Bruno, the son of the assimilated writer.

History repeats itself with a difference: Bruno will return to Jerusalem. Whether he will be healed both mentally and spiritually will not be within his grasp, for successive generations have not satisfied HaShem. Until they do, there can be no peace.

Celebrate end of short, sweet campaign

Operation Facelift exceeds goal – $613,000 donated and pledged

Over 200 well-wishers and friends of the Hillel Lodge gathered at the home of Elissa and Avraham Iny on Thursday July 4 to celebrate the successful conclusion of the "Operation Facelift" campaign to bring the Ottawa Jewish Home for the Aged into the 80's.

The mood was freilach as Co-chairman Stephen Victor reported that this was probably the shortest and sweetest campaign to achieve such a high response from so many people in the community. He praised the canvassers for a super job and announced that because of excellent volunteer support the expenses in running the campaign amounted to less than one percent, a record in fund-raising in Ottawa.

For his many years of active involvement as a fundraiser for the Lodge, Bill Grossman, honorary chairman of the campaign was presented with a plaque by President Sylvia Goldblatt. Mr. Grossman responded by stating that he had seen a dream come true in that the Hillel Lodge had found a place of honour in the hearts of the Ottawa Jewish Community.

The announcement of the campaign's achievement was made by Co-chairman Herb Nadolny to loud applause from the gathering. He reported that to date $613,000 had been received in pledges and donations, noting the coincidence of the figure as it related to the 613 mitzvot. The amount was indeed gratifying to the workers as the original goal of Operation Facelift was $500,000. The committee, in conversation after the reception, expects that the final amount will be still higher as donations continue to be received at the Lodge.

For her enthusiasm and energy before and during the campaign, Deputy Co-chairman Evelyn Greenberg was presented with flowers by Mr. Nadolny and a plaque by Mrs. Goldblatt which read "To Evelyn Greenberg for her inspirational and untiring leadership in this campaign to make Hillel Lodge a Hillel Hilton. From all those, including the residents of Hillel Lodge who would cheerfully follow her music to the ends of the earth". In her response, Mrs. Greenberg reiterated the importance to this Jewish community of having a residence for its elderly that can compete with the non-Jewish facilities in Ottawa and thanked the workers and donors for making it a reality. She praised Herb Nadolny and Steve Victor particularly as two of the busiest men in the community who still take the time to make this Jewish community special. They are the experts, she said.

Freda Lipson gives thanks from residents

The audience responded with warmth when Freda Lipson thanked everyone on behalf of the residents of the Lodge and the evening concluded appropriately with the introduction of Stephen Schneiderman, the new Executive Director of Hillel Lodge, formerly of Maimonides Hospital in Montreal.

Qualified nurses are guaranteed positions

Qualified nurses in the U.S. and Canada are being sought for immediate employment by Hadassah-Hebrew University Hospital in Israel, officials of the Israel Aliyah Centre and Hadassah have announced.

The two organizations are working together now to fill an urgent need for registered and licensed practical nurses in all specialties, according to Aharon Korzen, director of the Israel Aliyah Centre.

"Nurses accepted by Hadassah will be housed in accommodations owned by the hospital and, if they lack sufficient knowledge of Hebrew, will receive training in the language before they begin their work," he said.

"This is a tremendous opportunity," Korzen added, "for nurses, interested in Israel, to make a meaningful contribution to the State as well as to their own lives."

Hadassah-Hebrew University Hospital, located in Jerusalem, is an 800-bed teaching facility with 30 departments and units covering the spectrum of modern medical discipline.

Seventy-three years after its founding as a small clinic, the medical center remains the core of all health services in Israel with facilities on two separate campuses.

Nurses interested in further information should contact Aharon Korzen or David Abisror of the Israel Aliyah Centre, 1310 Greene Ave, Montreal, Que H3Z 2B2 (514) 934-0804.

Ottawa's loss is Paris' gain as Doris and Leon Bronstein leave

By Zelaine Shinder

Doris and Leon Bronstein, affectionately known as Dodo and Liney to all their friends, arrived in Ottawa from Montreal with their two children, Allan and Cheryl, in the late summer of 1972. They were soon settled into their lovely home at 50 Beaver Ridge and the children were enrolled in Hillel Academy.

Liney became well established in his job for the Canadian Government in the Department of Energy, Mines and Resources. Although he worked for the Canadian Council for Remote Sensing, we were never quite sure what it was that Liney did. But one thing we knew for sure — he did it well! The Department in which he worked was very aptly suited and named to this man of great energy, keen mind and many resources.

Dodo started work in November, 1972 as a nursery assistant in the then West End Branch of Hillel Academy on Coldrey Avenue. A decided asset, with her excellent Hebrew education and Jewish background, she brought to her job a deep and abiding love of Jewish education and Jewish children. In 1974 she replaced nursery teacher Esther Sadavoy who was retiring due to ill health, and the Central Branch of Hillel Academy Nursery at 151 Chapel Street became her second home for the next eight years.

As a mother watches over her children, guides them and nurtures them, gently but firmly, with great love and caring, Dodo watched her nursery school grow from one nursery to a nursery school with three branches by the time she left in 1982. She touched many hearts and minds along the way, and established herself as a top-notch educator in the field of Jewish education, and as a good friend to those who had the privilege of working alongside her. One could not help but learn from this very wise and caring person who gave of herself so unselfishly, and one could only stand back in awe of her many talents, innovative ideas and boundless energy.

Involved in community

Being a part of the Jewish community in Ottawa meant involvement to the Bronsteins, and all four of them have been active participants in the many facets of this ever-changing community.

Liney continued his affiliation with B'nai B'rith here in Ottawa after leaving Montreal. He worked his way up through the ranks of the local executive until he became President of the Ottawa Lodge in 1979-1980. He was always actively involved in many areas of service through the Ottawa Lodge such as bingo, Community Volunteer Services, fundraising for the Citizen of the Year Dinner, the local car draw and the Sportsman's dinner. As a past president of the Ottawa Lodge he joined the ranks as chairman of Camp B'nai B'rith from 1982-1983. He is still active, and as an elder statesman of the Lodge, his 'brothers' know, when they need a considered viewpoint that is carefully and methodically thought out, they can always rely on Liney to come through for them.

Leon and Doris Bronstein

Early in September, Doris and Leon Bronstein will hang their hats in Paris, France where 'Liney' will take up duties as Space Counsellor to the European Space Agency.

The Bronsteins leave the Jewish community of Ottawa — with which they have shared their time and considerable talents for the past 13 years — the better, for having been an integral part of it.

This article, written by their good friend Zelaine Shinder, is a farewell tribute to a very special couple.

Being the children of ardent Zionists, it was natural for Allan and Cheryl to become actively involved in the Dror-Habonim movement. Their parents set the example by becoming so committed to Camp Gesher through the Parents' Committee. Their home and their hearts were always open to the newly-arrived Shlichim from Israel and their families. The Bronsteins were always ready to answer the needs of the camp, both in thought and deed. Both are young at heart, cheerful with willing and able hands, and so they spent much time at the camp to make sure it would be a good environment for the children who attended. Under their watchful eyes it grew, with Allan and Cheryl at the head.

Walkathon, U.J.A. campaigns were also served by the Bronsteins, and the Ottawa community came to love them as they became an integral part of its very heart.

The Bronstein family have been active members of Agudath Israel Synagogue since their arrival, and have taken great joy and satisfaction in the shul's growth over the years.

No one was prouder or happier than the Bronsteins when the Jewish Community Campus at 881 Broadview opened its doors in July of 1983. Both had been tireless workers for this building, and now Dodo entered her new office as Principal of the Talmud Torah Afternoon School. She brought to this position a new maturity and understanding of the educational system. She tackled her new job with the same enthusiastic zeal with which she does everything, this time combining her great organizational skills and efficiency with her knowledge, experience and great capability. Under her guidance and direction the school grew and functioned smoothly and well. When the need for a community high school became evident, Dodo helped organize and run Akiva High School. Interest in the school has grown because of the varied and stimulating programs that she has helped introduce.

Always on the lookout for new ideas, she has helped create a school of which we can all be proud. By her side, Liney has always been supportive, helpful and encouraging. The two act as a team in every way.

Recently Liney was promoted to a new and exciting position. He has been named the Space Counsellor to the European Space Agency in Paris, France where he will be dealing with satellite communications. As of September, the Bronstein's new address will be c/o The Canadian Embassy, Paris, France for the next two years!

The many friends and acquaintances they leave behind will sorely miss them, but we wish them well in this new and exciting challenge in their lives.

Dodo and Liney Bronstein recently celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary, and as they begin the next quarter century of their lives in this new life together, all their many friends in Ottawa wish them shalom, bonne chance and l'hitraot.

STATE OF ISRAEL BONDS

SENATOR E. LEO KOLBER HONORED AT PARLIAMENT HILL RECEPTION

Since Israel Bonds were initiated in 1951 by David Ben Gurion and Golda Meir, this financial instrument continues to represent the very muscle and sinew of a young nation determined to make economic progress and to survive. Your investment is a symbol of faith in Israel's people to build their nation. Israel Bond capital is used exclusively for the economic upbuilding of the country and for more than three decades, each Bond which has matured has been redeemed fully and on schedule, and all interest payments have been made promptly. By becoming an Israel Bond holder, you demonstrate your solidarity with the only democratic State in its Region, and indicate your confidence in a people's will to succeed.

Hostage diplomacy — a sinister version of Alice in Wonderland

By Harry Wall

It was almost inevitable and certainly predictable. Even before the Trans World Airline hostages were released, familiar pundits known for their "even-handedness" on the Middle East were making familiar rationales for a familiar phenomenon — terrorism.

It is the case for "underlying causes," a form of collective reasoning whose point of departure and conclusion is to fault Israel and American policies supporting the Jewish state.

Parallel with their peculiar logic is a form of public opinion that is catalyzed by Middle East crises, as faithfully replayed in the TWA affair. Extremists (Nabih Berri and Syria) are viewed as helpful moderates. Allies (the U.S. and Israel) become adversaries, and the accessories to violence (terrorist-supporting states) are virtually ignored until the next episode of international lawlessness and blackmail.

The TWA hostages were barely in captivity before the undercurrent of public opinion against Israel swelled into a chorus of appeasement by proxy. Israel had weakened its own case of not caving in to terrorist demands by doing just that a few weeks earlier.

But the inordinate media coverage of the plight of the hostages and, in particular the televised interviews of the prisoners in captivity and of their suffering families in the U.S., placed the burden of responsibility, at least insofar as the American public was concerned, heavily upon Israel.

With these seeds of doubt toward Israel planted, the soil was ready for the Middle East experts to fertilize them with philosophical nourishment. The first line of offense was to blame the hostage crisis on Israel's intervention in Lebanon. "On this occasion the Americans are paying a price for their support of Israel, whose invasion of Lebanon accelerated that country's fall into anarchy...," editorialized The Economist in London.

The pundits from Brookings quickly chimed in with the same old song "push on with the peace process aimed at reviving the negotiations over Israeli-occupied Arab territories," wrote William Quandt in the Christian Science Monitor. Restore U.S. credibility by doing something about the "Israeli question" was another refrain heard from old Middle East hands in Washington.

This is a line of reasoning that, no matter what the crisis of the moment, follows a trajectory that ineluctably brings us back to Israel and the Palestinian problem. It is, of course, sheer nonsense.

Violence is endemic to the Middle East, with or without Israel. Terror is a means of settling scores in the Arab World, and the Shiites are not newcomers to the scene. Their grievance is not specifically with Israel, which had intended to return the 700 Shiite prisoners to Lebanon in a short time.

Rather, the real target of radical Islam is the West and the "Satanic forces of modernity" which have, they believe, corrupted the region. For these religious zealots the real enemies are the Arab "infidels" who have, as yet, failed to turn their countries into feudal Moslem clergy-states. If the pundits in the U.S. and Europe insist on underlying doctrines for terror in the Middle-East, they ought to retool their archaic concepts of Israeli culpability and American "unevenhandedness" and begin to focus on the uncompromising tenets of the true believers.

Old dogma, however, dies hard. If a staunch American ally, Israel, is viewed as part of the latest problem, it was only natural, then, that the extremists — Shiite leader Nabih Berri and his Syrian backers — are viewed as part of the solution. The bizarre spectacle of casting the perpetrators of violence and their interlocutors as heroes is attendent to hostage-taking. Witness the role of the PLO and Algeria during the protracted crisis when Americans were held captive in Iran.

Berri, couching his anti-Western invective in modulated tones, became a familiar and rather soothing Father-figure on network television. Never mind that he declared at a press conference, "I am not a go-between. I am a party," to the hijackers demands. A rather inappropriate position for Lebanon's Minister of Justice to take.

Nevertheless, such dramas require benign protagonists and Berri needed to be "understood". For New York Times columnist Anthony Lewis, Berri is actually "a moderate man by instinct and not anti-American." Lewis arrived at this conclusion based on Berri having lived in the U.S., where his children still reside. By the same logic, would Lewis find the Ayatollah Khomeni a Francophile since he lived for several years in France? Or Rabbi Meir Kahane a supporter of Jeffersonian democracy since he is an American citizen?

Then there are the Syrians, who are emerging as the heroes of the TWA affair for their mediating efforts. Assad may be seen as the real winner of a dangerous "bad-cop, good-cop" game, one which may have been orchestrated in Damascus. Shiite terrorists operating from Syrian-controlled territory, humiliate the U.S. and drive a wedge between America and Israel over the proposed hostage exchange. And at the last minute, Syria steps in and is credited with organizing the release of the Americans.

What is overlooked here is the principal role played by Syria, if not in the hijacking itself then certainly in allowing the tragedy to drag on. Damascus has proven its ability to prevent terrorists from operating from Syrian territory. Any doubters need only count the number of terrorists crossing into Israel from Syria in recent years.

The Assad regime has also displayed its ruthlessness in quelling political behavior not to its liking. The message of the Syrian massacre in Hama is not lost upon Amal or the Hezbollah Shiites. Should he so desire, Assad could unleash his own "iron fist" to keep the Islamic militants in line.

That Syria has been a spawning ground for international terrorism matters little in the critical moments of hostage diplomacy. To its credit the U.S. has decided not to remove Syria from the list of countries supporting terror. But a favor rendered is a favor not quickly forgotten.

Hostage diplomacy has a curious way of turning the strong into the weak, friends into adversaries, the thugs into victims and vice-versa. It is a sinister version of Alice-in-Wonderland. Things keep getting curiouser and curiouser.

BBW survey of US Jewish women finds they are less conforming

By Ben Gallob, JTA

A study described by B'nai B'rith Women as the first to systematically compare American Jewish and non-Jewish women on a national basis suggests that Jewish women are less conformist than non-Jewish women about the role of women in the American society and that they have differing political priorities.

In releasing the study findings, Beverly Davis, BBW president, said that while the differences were "enormously interesting," so were the similarities shown in the study. She declared that while Jewish women "think differently than non-Jewish women on many public policy issues, we hold similar beliefs about hopes for our children."

She said the findings show clearly that Jewish women are much more accepting of working women as good mothers, while non-Jewish women are less so. While only one-third of Jewish women believe that non-working mothers make better mothers than women who work, nearly one-half of the non-Jewish respondents think so.

Jewish women are much less likely than non-Jewish women, by a ratio of 38 percent to 50 percent, to believe that children are more apt to get into trouble when both parents work. Jewish women are much less likely than non-Jewish women — 63 percent to 80 percent — to believe that strict discipline is the best way to raise children.

Davis said the study was based on a systematic national mail survey of 485 Jewish women and 471 non-Jewish women.

Members of the two groups were matched on age, marital status, and employment status to produce samples which were considered nationally representative of all American women on these factors, and so that these factors could be ruled out as possible causes for any observed differences between the two groups.

The survey found that a significantly greater number of Jewish women than non-Jewish women (55 percent to 45 percent) think working women make more interesting marriage partners than do non-working women. Only 30 percent of Jewish women — compared to 43 percent of non-Jewish women — think most women are happier when making a home and caring for children.

The survey found that a significantly greater percentage of Jewish women than non-Jewish women (83 percent to 65 percent) favor greater participation for women in the American political process. Nearly three-fourths of Jewish women think that more women in positions of power would be good for government while only 50 percent of non-Jewish women think so.

Both Jewish women and non-Jewish women favor more, rather than less, government spending. But 51 percent of Jewish women favor cuts in spending for national defense while only 28 percent of non-Jewish women agree. Jewish women are more likely than non-Jewish women to support spending boosts for education, health, environment and consumer protection.

Jewish women and non-Jewish women both belong to an average of three organizations but Jewish women are more likely to be members of education, national, political civic and cultural agencies, while non-Jewish women are more likely to join community, craft and youth organizations.

Davis said many of the significant similarities relate to family relationships and to aspirations for children. Jewish and non-Jewish women have similar desired attributes for their daughters. When asked to list desired attributes, both Jewish and non-Jewish women ranked wealth, beauty and fame on the bottom of the list. Jewish women tended to give a slightly higher emphasis to independence, self-reliance, ambition and intelligence. Non-Jewish women most valued being loving, compassionate, generous and friendly.

Both Jewish (98 percent) and non-Jewish (97 percent) agree that parents should encourage as much independence in their daughters as in their sons. Equal numbers of Jewish and non-Jewish women (67 percent) reported they had close relationships with their mothers.

Rabbi Reuven Bulka addresses one of the many rallies for Soviet Jewry held in front of the Russian Embassy on Laurier Avenue from May 7 through June 14.

Peaceful 6-week vigil staged to protest treatment of Soviet Jews

By Dr. Walter Hendelman

A six week vigil in front of the Soviet Embassy was held from May 7 to June 14 inclusive, weekdays from 12-1 p.m. The peaceful protest was planned to coincide with the gathering for Human Rights held in Ottawa, a follow-up meeting to the Helsinki Accord.

The demonstrators, easily identified by their placards bearing the name of a Russian Refusenik or a "prisoner-of-conscience," were protesting the treatment of Soviet Jewish citizens and Russian violation of international agreements.

Each synagogue was responsible for one day of the week for the duration of the vigil. Machzikei Hadas, Temple Israel, Agudath Israel, Adath Shalom, and Beth Shalom congregations participated.

The Jewish Community of Ottawa was asked to carry out the vigil on behalf of the Jews of Canada and Jews all over the world by the Canadian Soviet Jewry Committee. On occasion the ranks swelled with the arrival of different groups which included members of the Soviet Jewry Committee of Canada, which met in Ottawa May 7 and 8; two busloads of children and adults from Toronto, who joined Avital Scharansky to present a petition to the Embassy; members of the National Council of Jewish Women during their meeting in Ottawa; and several groups of schoolchildren from Hillel Academy.

People frequently question whether protests of this nature have any positive effect on the situation in Russia. While there is no hard answer, the alternative — silence — would be seen as a sign of compliance. Diaspora Jewry has a responsibility to the Jews behind the Iron Curtain, and to all beleagured Jewish communities, such as those in Ethiopia and Syria. Antisemetism and mistreatment of Jews cannot be tolerated. Speaking out makes that point clear.

The community is urged to participate in the Annual Simchat Torah Rally, to be held in front of the Soviet Embassy, on October 6, at 1:15 p.m.

Dr. Walter Hendelman is Co-Chairman, Soviet Jewry Committee of Ottawa.

Shul programs designed to suit all ages

Summer at Adath Shalom, Ottawa's egalitarian Conservative shul, is a busy time, filled with activities and programmes for all ages.

An adult educational evening of discussion, readings and prayers will take place at a Tisha B'Av 'tikun.' Themes from 'Lamentations' will be explored in both historical and contemporary perspectives. The 'tikun' will be held at the home of Barbara and Alec Okun, 76 Ridgefield Cres., Nepean, on the evening of Saturday, July 27, 8:00 p.m. Adath Shalom welcomes all interested people at this event.

Food and fun are the "main events" at the Adath Shalom picnic, which will take place on Sunday, August 11, from 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. at Andrew Hayden Park in Nepean. Games for all ages, music, folk dancing and good company will be the order of the day. All members of the Ottawa community are welcome to pack a lunch and join in the fun.

Adath Shalom offers weekly Shabbat morning services in the Conservative Jewish style which stress equal participation by men and women in all aspects of prayer. The services are member-led and family-oriented. During the High Holidays a Jewish Theological Seminary rabbinical student from New York leads the services.

High Holiday services are held at Riviera Gate Apartments Meeting Room at Baseline and Greenbank. During the summer services will be held at the homes of members as follows: July — The Brodos, 28 Benson, Parkwood Hills, Nepean; August — (first 3 weeks) — The Schnitzers, 241 Sherwood Dr., Ottawa; August (last 2 weeks) — The Gilberts, 27 Bainbridge, Craig Henry.

Meals on Wheels 'Delivers' For Volunteers

An aged man once said "I'm sure of only one thing. I tell the days of the week by when you deliver my meals."

Often they are the only steady contact that a homebound person has with the outside world. 'They' are volunteers with Jewish Social Service's Kosher Meals on Wheels program.

For four years Alice and Ben have delivered meals in the special program which serves the homebound throughout the Ottawa area. The 40 volunteers deliver close to 3000 meals each year, bringing "help in many ways besides food" as Ben describes it.

Each Monday, Tuesday and Thursday, Alice and Ben begin their duties with a stop at Hillel Lodge to pick up the specially packaged dinners and load them into their cars. Their current schedules find them making four to six stops in a 25 mile trip. The entire program serves 20 individuals, with five routes driven each day.

What happens at each stop depends on the physical and mental condition of the recipient. "Nobody comes and just drops the food," said Ann. "I've been places where someone has fallen or I've helped them get out of bed to eat, or sometimes they just don't want to be alone. If a person asks, you don't say no."

Both of them are active in other community organizations, yet managed to find time to volunteer as Meals on Wheels drivers. Ann said that she simply finds it fulfilling to serve others. "I just enjoy doing what I can for people, helping them out in any way that comes along."

"It's the most rewarding thing I do in all my activities", said Ben. "The mitzvah is Jewish Social Services Agency's, not mine, for letting me do this. Someone said I'll have a seat in heaven for doing this, but I have it right here."

Kosher Meals on Wheels is one of the important services Jewish Social Services Agency provides which enables the frail elderly to remain in their own homes. Clients must be able to live alone safely to receive Kosher Meals on Wheels; otherwise Jewish Social Services Agency will work with other agencies to provide even more service. To volunteer with this program call Dora Smith or Valerie Terkel at 238-6351.

Professor Gabriel Weimann bid farewell at party in his honor

Erwin and Edie Koranyi, on behalf of the Ottawa Governors of the Canada Israel Foundation for Academic Exchanges, recently hosted a farewell party for Professor and Mrs. Gabriel Weimann. Attending were members of the Ottawa Jewish Community who have contributed to the Foundation in past years.

Professor Weimann is the tenth scholar to have spent a year at Carleton University since the establishment of the Foundation in 1974. From its modest beginnings in Ottawa a decade ago, the Canada Israel Foundation for Academic Exchanges has grown into a national organization promoting academic exchange between Canada and Israel. During the 1984-85 academic year there were ten Foundation scholars at universities across Canada; for the forthcoming year there will be twelve.

Professor Weimann had an extremely busy and productive year in Ottawa. In addition to teaching large numbers of undergraduate and graduate students in the Communications Program of the School of Journalism and the Sociology Department, Professor Weimann worked on a number of research projects. Among the most interesting and important of these is a book on the Zundel trial and anti-semitism in Canada being written in collaboration with Professor Conrad Winn of Carleton's Political Science Department.

Beyond his academic responsibilities, Professor Weimann participated regularly in local community activities and spoke to numerous Jewish and general community groups in Ottawa and elsewhere. He also appeared frequently on Canadian news media as a commentator on Israeli politics and on terrorism.

The costs of the Canada Israel Foundation for Academic Exchanges' program in Ottawa have been generously supported for many years by an annual grant from the Jewish Community Council as well as by donations in aid of special projects. The Foundation's governors in Ottawa currently are David Golden, John Greenberg, Sonia Kizell and Stephen Victor.

The late Hy Hochberg played a major role in starting the Foundation and assisting it over the years. Lawrence Freiman has also served as a Foundation Governor.

Professor Maureen Molot proffers good wishes to departing Professor Gabriel Weimann.

Trial is ordered for complicity in murder

A suspected leader of a Lebanese terrorist group was ordered to stand trial for complicity in the murder of Israeli diplomat Yaakov Barsimantov who was gunned down outside his apartment building in a fashionable section of Paris on April 3, 1982.

The order, by a French judge, followed identification of the murder weapon in a cache of arms found at the hideout of "The Lebanese Armed Revolutionary Faction" one of whose suspected leaders, George Ibrahim Abdullah, has been in custody since his arrest in Lyon last October.

Abdullah was arrested in Lyon following the interrogation by Italian police of two Lebanese caught trying to smuggle explosives into Italy from Yugoslavia.

He is not the actual killer of Barsimantov. According to eyewitness accounts, the assassin was a young woman. She was chased by the Israeli diplomat's teenaged son to a subway entrance where she threatened him at gunpoint and escaped.

It's a Girl!

Leadership Profile

Gerald Berger

President
Jewish Community Council of Ottawa/Ottawa Vaad Ha'Ir

The son of the late Louis and Salome Berger of Toronto, Gerald Berger moved to Ottawa in 1961, immediately following his graduation from Columbia University with an M.B.A., to join the Department of Trade and Commerce. Prior to his appointment as Federal Co-ordinator, Government of Canada Office for the 1988 Olympic Winter Games, he held the position of Assistant Deputy Minister of Supply and Services.

As the 22nd president of the Ottawa Vaad Ha'Ir, Mr. Berger is the sixth non-native born Ottawan to occupy the position. In that capacity he is in the distinguished company of the late A.J. Freiman, Thomas Sachs, Mr. Justice Abraham H. Lieff, Hy Soloway, Q.C., and the late Alex Betcherman. As well, he is the first serving public servant to serve as Vaad president.

During the 24 years he has lived in Ottawa, Mr. Berger has maintained a high profile in community affairs, serving as Honorary Secretary, Second Vice-President and First Vice-President of the Vaad. He was the first president of the Jewish Community Campus, 1975 Chairman of the Public Service Division of United Jewish Appeal, and was a member of the board of the Agudath Israel Synagogue for two terms.

Gerald Berger is married to the former Ruth Cohen of Ottawa. The couple has two children, Michael, 16 and Lisa, 13.

Mrs. Larsen studies photo of Baron Mannerheim, Marshall of Finland, visiting Helsinki Synagogue in 1941.

On Tuesday, June 18, the Ottawa Jewish Community Centre was the scene of a memorable, emotion-laden event — the unveiling of a photographic exhibit recounting the actions taken by the Scandinavian countries during World War II to protect their Jewish citizens from Hitler's tyranny. Present at the opening of this exhibit were representatives from the Embassies of Denmark, Finland, Norway, and Sweden. They listened as the courageous responses of their countrymen to the Holocaust were recalled: the Danish people who ferried 8,000 Danish Jews to safety in Sweden; Raoul Wallenberg, the young Swedish diplomat who saved thousands of Hungarian Jews before he vanished into the Russian prison system; and Baron C.G. Mannerheim, Marshall of Finland, who provided a safe haven for Jewish refugees and refused to submit Finnish Jews to Nazi decrees.

This exhibit, entitled In Tribute to Scandinavia, was created by Shirley Berman, coordinator of the Jewish Historical Society and Ron Boro, Executive Director of the Jewish Community Centre at the suggestion of Abbo Kotschack Kent, a Jewish citizen of Finland who wished to ensure recognition for Finland's magnificent efforts on behalf of its Jewish minority during World War II. The exhibit will be a permanent feature of the Ottawa Jewish Community Centre, commemorating the exemplary model of courage and decency set by the Scandinavians during the most shameful period of human history.

The Year's End For Habonim-Dror

Again the summer brings an end to the year of activities in Habonim-Dror.

This year was especially busy as we undertook some highly successful endeavours such as, the Succoth party, skating on the canal and Winterlude activities, as well as the regular weekly activities in the "Ken". This year we met twice with parents of children which proved to be a positive, creative and fulfilling experience.

It is very satisfying to see eight of our Madrichim and Bogrim (graduates) embark on long-term programs in Israel such as the Habonim-Dror Workshop, the one-year University Study Program and the Kibbutz Ulpam Program. On top of this we are happy to see eight others going to Israel for the S.H.K. Summer Program.

This year the Machaneh Bonim National Leadership Summer Camp near Chicago will be attended by five participants from Habonim-Dror in Ottawa.

We sincerely want to wish all of the participants in the various programs the very best and we hope they enjoy complete success in their endeavours.

We would like to take this opportunity to give special thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Leon Bronstein who have given generously of their time to help all the new Shlichim including us, on their arrival in Canada. Their input to the movement has been sincere and forthcoming and a great asset to us. As well, an added thanks to Mr. Bronstein for his constructive chairmanship of the Camp Committee. We wish them a wonderful experience in Europe for the next two years.

We would also like to thank the other members of the Camp Committee, Mr. Harry Goldstein, Dr. David Malek and Mrs. Marlene Cherun, for their superb support and assistance during camp and throughout the year.

We don't think anything would have been possible without the great dedication and involvement of the Madrichim, headed most abley by David Gershkovitch, who served this year as "Rosh Ken". Without their tremendous dedication and creativity we wouldn't have been able to enjoy the great successes and achievements which this year brought forth.

To all, again our most sincere thanks!

We are now "taking a break" at Camp Gesher and we're looking forward to another season in the movement and the community when we come back in September. In the meantime the Israel Program Centre is open a few days a week. For information please call: 232-7306.

Shalom and L'Hitraot!

Irene and Nehemia Dishon.

Pool-side Barbecue and Dance

Sunday, August 11,
5:00, J.C.C., 151 Chapel Street

This is our combined wind-up to summer and kick-off to fall and we're planning a really big one! This party is for everyone who's come out to our events and activities during the past year: Bowling, Games Night, Cocktails, Supper Clubs, Softball, Volleyball, Tennis, Video Night, Dances, etc. We're presenting awards for "distinguished achievers" — high scorers, low scorers, original stylists and just plain outstanding folks.

Those of you who haven't been to any of our activities but were thinking of going will be warmly welcomed also. We'll be announcing our fall plans and getting to know you better, so that when you do come out to our programs, you won't be a "new face", you'll be a friend.

Our hard-working party planners assure us that they've come up with lots of ideas to make this a terrific evening. Music will be provided by Bytown Boogie, and request songs will be the order of the night. Start the evening swimming, end it dancing and indulge in lots of good eating in between.

Changing rooms will be available for those who don't dance in bathing suits. Cost for the entire evening, including a full-course Kosher barbecue, is $8.00. Tickets will be available at the door. If it rains, we have contingency plans for an indoor barbecue dance, probably a new experience for most of you, so plan on being there.

Anyone interested in helping with the planning, decorating or any other aspect of this event please call Estelle Melzer at 232-7306.

Video Night, Saturday, August 10,
8:30, 2824 Sandlewood Dr.

Movie buffs should note this one. Maurice Benchitrit has offered his 6 ft. t.v. screen complete with stereo-sound for a showing of the film, The Last Starfighter. Drinks and munchies are also included in the admission price of $1.50, along with a lot of friendly people. For directions to Maurice's, call 733-4105.

We would like to form a Video Club this fall and organize a schedule of films the group wants to see. If you are interested in becoming a member or for more information call Estelle at 232-7306.

Picnic in Vincent Massey Park,
Sunday, August 25, 12:00, Section D

The end of summer 1985 is upon us. Let's celebrate the joys of summer together in a final extravaganza of picnicking, biking, baseball, or just lying around soaking up the sun. We've geared this as a family-style event. Children are very welcome (although babysitting will not be provided). Races, games and surprises are part of the afternoon attractions. B.Y.O.P.B. (bring your own picnic basket) and any equipment — bikes, badminton racquets, frisbees, etc. — you think belong at a picnic. We will provide the drinks and the fun. A map pinpointing section D will accompany your August Singles Newsletter. For more information call Eric at 233-6660.

Sadinsky In Right

by Ian R. Sadinsky

GLOVE IN THE SHADOWS

Hard to believe but true — Lou Honigman's softball glove, reported lost in our June 14th column, turned up mysteriously one night on his front doorstep — no note, no nothing! For those of you who have been using this column to wrap fish heads, (and who obviously have no sense of community history), SIR reported that the hallowed hurler's beloved leather disappeared after last year's championship game and the Honigman family was offering a reward, no questions asked. Obviously the repentant rogue who snaggled the mitt heeded the call of retrospective remorse, and now the secret is between him and the Great Scorekeeper in the Sky. A special SIR Task Force will be scouring the local synagogues on Yom Kippur upcoming, reading lips and trying to unravel this most unsettling mystery.

UP FROM THE GUTTER

If you can roll a heavy ball down sixty feet of varnished pine, then Ian Garonce is looking for you. The affable co-ordinator of the B'nai B'rith Men's Bowling League is already on the hunt for new keglers for this season's action. So if you know the difference between a head-pin and a pin-head, give him a call at 226-5795 and come out of the gutters into the alleys. The league plays every Monday night at MacArthur Lanes and is a great warmer-upper for Monday Night Football.

SOFTBALL SOUFFLÉ

Take about 120 good eggs, mix in a little pine tar and horsehide, a touch of rain-water, a couple of rhubarbs, some sand, grass, and lime for decoration, and you have the recipe for a pretty good combination — The Ottawa Jewish Men's Softball League. Chef Shelly Petrontech has done a great job on his first year in the kitchen, and he has put together all the ingredients for a terrific seasoning. (O.K. I'll quit. I hate extended metaphors myself!)

But just a few observations from the old right-fielder. Bring back the Sunday games, Shelly. It's the middle of July and I still haven't seen all the players on all the teams, and the good-natured kibitzing that the Sunday sunshine used to elicit has been replaced by the "Monday-to-Thursday, I-just-got-off-work" blahs. Playing under the lights at Hampton and Carlington is great, but there's something about looking at rows and rows of tanning spectators on a Sunday morn that gets the adrenalin pumping in some of the old-timers.

Also, forget about the league-hoppers, those teams that use the OJMSL as practice for other city leagues. There are all kinds of players who are dying to get into this league (some of the existing teams are carrying close to 20 players!)

And open the draft next year. The teams are getting boring — the same people playing together every year. I know the old reasons like — "I want to play with my friends or my relatives" — but I'd rather see the league used as a place to meet new friends and acquaintances, than as an extension of creeping clan-ism. Just like love, care, and a little bit of time will turn tired and boring scrambled eggs into an elegant soufflé, so too can the OJMSL rise to new heights. See you in August.

Lucky year thirteen for West-End Fitness

Back in the familiar surroundings of the Agudath Israel Synagogue, the West-End Rhythmic Fitness class enthusiastically completed its thirteenth year. The easily accessible exercise room complete with classy mirrors, donated by Preston & Lieff Glass Limited, made exercising and the after-class coffee klaches especially satisfying this past year.

The annual spring closing took place in the large comfortable home of Selma Davis, one of the class charter members. After the customary outdoor exercise warm-up, the ladies took off for an hour fitness walk, a necessary act to precede the following event — the "Big Brunch". This traditional spread continues to be inviting and exciting and members are already anticipating next year's.

One of the new class members, Betty Goldenberg, attended a record number of consecutive exercise days while Therese Racicot chalked up the largest number for the whole year. Best attender for the seventh session was Sylvia Pasher, edging out several other regulars.

The "Lose & Win Club" opened its doors to welcome some serious members who succeeded in shedding many of their unwanted pounds. The lucky winner of this term's Fat Fund draw was Catherine Reid but the Bangladesh Relief Fund also gained, with a cheque representing those pounds not lost.

An important reason for the success of our thirteenth year was the sincere interest and support of Greg Richards, J.C.C. Physical Education Director, who assisted in many ways. Important too, was the continued extra effort put forth by the Fitness Committee including Mollie Goldie, Malca Polowin, Terese Racicot, Helen Polowin and Ethel Taylor. Appreciation is also extended to the staff of the Agudath Israel Synagogue for its co-operation in providing a pleasant environment for the fitness classes.

Books in Brief

Home Sweet Home: My Canadian Album
by Mordecai Richler

Rarely does one encounter a major fictional writer who also is competent to comment intelligently on the major issues of his time. Richler seems to be a pleasant exception.

In covering such diverse topics as the far North, his childhood, the October crisis, hockey and bilingualism, Richler demonstrates that he can adjust his literary style to nearly every form of non-fictional prose — personal memoirs, political and historical tracts, social commentary and, lastly, sport vignettes.

This collection of essays, then, can only serve to enhance Richler's reputation as one of Canada's foremost writers.

Is arrested for treason

NEW YORK (JTA) — After a five hour search of his apartment recently, leading Jewish activist Dr. Isai Goldstein from Tbilisi has been told to report to the KGB for arrest on charges of "treason by reason of spying," the Student Struggle for Soviet Jewry reported.

Goldstein, a 27-year-old physicist, refused an exit visa to Israel for 14 years, could face execution, the SSSJ said. The arrest was termed by the SSSJ "a frightening display of Mikhail Gorbachev's emergence into a new Stalin. This is the fourth arrest of a Russian-Jewish activist within the past month."

According to the SSSJ, Goldstein, his family and brother belonged to an unofficial musical group called Phantom. It is comprised of refuseniks and human rights activists. Eight other members of the group were detained as well, but evidently only Goldstein and human rights compaigner Edward Gudeva are charged with treason.

Awarded Tufts scholarship

Dr. and Mrs. Morris Resnick are happy to announce that their son, Gary, will be attending Tufts University for a PhD in Developmental Psychology. The Doctoral Fellowship is supported by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada. Gary Resnick was also awarded a complete tuition scholarship from Tufts University.

Gary's wife Elyse, whose articles on nutrition appear regularly in The Globe and Mail under the byline Elyse Levine, will be attending Boston University to do her Masters (MSc) in Nutrition Communication. Elyse is the daughter of Judy and William Levine of Toronto.

Is named top bookseller

Congratulations to Ottawa bookseller Dan Mozersky who was awarded the Bookseller of the Year Award at the Canadian Booksellers Association convention held recently in Toronto.

Mr. Mozersky, who operates Prospero Books and Prospero Paperbacks and Computer Books, received the award presented by the Canadian Book Publishers Professional Association.

The publishers honoured the retailer for running outstanding stores, organizing the Ottawa Book Fair for publishers and booksellers every August, and promoting his industry as a director of the Canadian Booksellers Association.

Dream being realized as Tamir opens group home

A L'Chaim Cocktail Reception was hosted recently by Muriel and Joseph Ginsburg to help the Tamir Foundation say thank you to its patrons, donors and sponsors. The evening was held under the distinguished patronage of Mrs. Nehama Ben-Horin, wife of the Ambassador of Israel.

A highlight of the program was the report of Fundraising Chairperson, Mrs. Rose Taylor, who noted that the generosity and support of the Ottawa Jewish Community is enabling Tamir to proceed with a strong foundation as the doors of Ottawa's first Jewish group home finally open.

The home is now equipped and furnished, and a Residence Director has been hired. The developmentally handicapped young people who will live in the home are being introduced to one another and, like many young adults, are preparing to move away from their families for the first time.

The residents will learn many things: how to shop for groceries; how to cook and clean; how to manage money and how to enjoy life in the community as they develop skills to enable them to become increasingly independent.

Today, there are many developmentally handicapped people living in Ottawa who, not so long ago, would have had no alternative but to live in a large institution. These people are now living in houses and apartments throughout the region.

After more than four years of planning, Tamir is proud to be able to offer Jewish developmentally handicapped young adults a home where they can continue to observe shabbat and Jewish traditions, while receiving the support and assistance they require in the activities of daily living.

Anyone interested in contributing to Tamir, can contact Rose Taylor at 733-8152, Lily Penso at 725-1846 or Hilary Ingre at 830-2631.
